

70037

watercolor on paper: waiting out the storm, tory island, ireland by Michael Dunlavey, signed and framed

2018

from the artist: old fishing boats have always fascinated me. those on the verge of falling apart, and sinking into the sea seem to call me, and i cannot pass one by without shooting a photograph as inspiration for a future painting. i seek to capture their essence, in a time less hurried, a calmness of spirit. i want to preserve their beauty. michael dunlavey is a true watercolor master learning his craft first from his father as a boy then receiving his b.a. and masters in art from california state university, sacramento

Height: 32"

Seat height:

Width: 40"

Depth:

Diameter:

Drop: