

60518

Large Pair of Roman Rococo Carved Giltwood Putti Harvesting Grapes

mid-18th Century

purchased in Rome in the 1980's, the well-carved chubby winged putti in opposing stances and poised on one foot over a rock-work base; depicting the grape harvest also known as the allegory of autumn (see detail image of Jean-Jacques Lagrenée's 'Putti Harvesting Grapes'); interior image courtesy 'Edward Lobrano Interior Design', NYC; excellent antique condition with overall rubbing to refreshed gilding

Height: 37"

Seat height:

Width: 26"

Depth: 16"

Diameter:

Drop: