

5550

Large Italian Albisola Blue and White Tin-glazed Majolica Urn/Vase

circa 1900

the impressive vessel with everted lip above an ovoid body flanked by double mask handles all over a splayed foot; painted overall with a female figure and putti in a landscape setting with a similar design on reverse; underglaze mark to undersize; professional repair to lip; good antique condition with some wear Located in the Italian Riviera is Albisola, a small seaside village that has been making ceramics since the late 16th century. The signature style, Antico Savona, features the iconic blue and white finish with intricate designs inspired by local motifs, such as the sea and the surrounding nature.

Height: 18.5"

Seat height:

Width: 16"

Depth: 11"

Diameter:

Drop: