

5654

Pair 1960s Stiffel Asian Inspired Ivory Crackle-glaze Ginger Jar Lamps

1960s

each with flared domed top above a waisted neck and compressed bulbous body all in an ivory crackle glaze finish; resting on a patinated decagonal metal base; Ginger Jars have a history dating back to China's Tang Dynasty and became popular decorative items in the West during the 18th-century trade era, serving as vases, display pieces, or storage for trinkets; Founded in 1932 in Chicago by craftsman Ted Stiffel, Stiffel Lamps are renowned for high-quality, American-made, traditional, and mid-century designs featuring brass and premium materials; professionally rewired; overall even wear and crackling; one lamp with small filled chip; patina to metal bases and brass trim

Height: 19" (top of ceramic) 30" (top of shade)

Seat height:

Width:

Depth:

Diameter: 7"

Drop: